The telephone number is the one provided by the cardholder on the Card Application form, unless since updated on the account.

In-person transactions:

Electronic verification systems allow suppliers to verify that the card is valid, and the card has sufficient credit to cover the purchase, allowing the verification to happen at the time of purchase. The verification is performed using a credit card payment terminal or point-of-sale (POS) system with a communications link to the supplier's acquiring bank. Data from the card is obtained from a magnetic stripe or chip on the card; the latter system is called Chip and PIN. Protect your credit card like you protect your cash, never leave it unattended.

- a) An itemized receipt and a copy of the credit card payment terminal receipt must be obtained by the cardholder.

Pre-Authorized Recurring Payments

Pre-Authorized Recurring Payments (PRPs) on corporate cards have grown in popularity due to their convenience and ease of use. Examples of services that can make use of PRPs include journal and magazine subscriptions, monthly water service, wireless communication provider payments for cell phone, and professional membership or organization dues. However, before a cardholder decides to take advantage of this useful tool on their card, it is important to be aware of the following:

- a) If a cardholder agrees to PRPs in the terms and conditions for an online purchase, or completes any PRP forms supplied by the merchant, they have authorized the supplier to complete specified charges for the term of the contract.
- b) If a card is cancelled prior to the end of a contract term, any existing PRPs may continue to flow to that card account number.
- c) To stop existing PRPs from appearing on a card, the cardholder must contact the supplier and revoke their authorization. The supplier should stop the charges immediately. If they do not, any charges incurred after the authorization is revoked can be disputed.
- d) The cardholder must obtain proof of the service cancellation from the supplier, to support any possible disputes for charges incurred after the cancellation.
- e) If the cardholder has pre-authorized payments, they or their department must contact the supplier and arrange to pay another way or cancel the service. If this is not done, the supplier can legally continue to bill the card, and the department will be responsible for the charges.

9.2 Card Declined by Supplier

Cardholders can review the reason for transaction declines in their pending authorizations in BMO Spend Dynamics. If a Supplier rejects the credit card, it may be for one of the following reasons:

- The transaction is over the assigned per transaction limit;
- Credit card has reached its monthly credit limit;
- The transaction meets the card provider's suspicious card activity parameters; (card cautioned or fraud suspected) – if this occurs the cardholder must call 1-800-844-6445 for BMO Corporate Client Services or with BMO Customer Service at 1-855-825-9232.
- The supplier has been purposely excluded from the credit card program and has had their merchant category blocked (see Restrictions by Merchant table).
- Invalid expiry date or billing address has been used
- Card has been suspended or terminated

9.3 Receipt and Return of Goods

- a) Cardholder is responsible for ensuring the receipt of goods and services and following up with the supplier to resolve any delivery problems, discrepancies and/or claims for damaged goods and for giving the supplier your credit card number for processing;
- b) Cardholder is responsible for coordinating returns directly with the supplier, as well as securing the appropriate credit, to be applied to the credit card only;
- c) The supplier may require the use of a Returned Material Authorization Number (RMA#.). This number should be clearly marked on the package label when returning goods;
- d) At the time of return, request that the supplier issue and send a credit card transaction slip to verify that the credit was given.

9.4 Supporting Documentation

Every transaction made using the credit card must be supported by valid and complete documentation. Not providing supporting documentation for all transactions is non-compliant.

Acceptable supporting documentation MUST include the following information:

- Supplier identification (merchant name);
- Date purchase was made on receipt and credit card transaction slip;
- Itemized description and quantity of each item purchased;
- Priced invoice showing per item cost and payment method, i.e.: credit card payment;
- Statement of clear business purpose, list of recipient names for all allowable gift/prize purchases, list of attendees at all working sessions/hosted events.

Unacceptable receipt documentation:

- Packing slips that do not include full amount charged to credit card
- Receipt from visa machine terminal as it does not include description of items purchased
- Order confirmations (including screenshots), which DO NOT include a full description of the purchase, including total cost with tax and shipping.
- Quotations

Missing receipt documentation:

- If original documentation is not obtained, the cardholder must request a copy from the supplier.
- If not available, the cardholder must complete a Missing Receipt form with purchase details describing "who, what, where, when and why." It should replace the itemized receipt.
- The form must be attached to and submitted with the transaction in lieu of original.
- A pattern of missing original receipt documentation may be considered non-compliance.

9.5 Reconciliation and Payment of Monthly Statement

Timely reconciliation and approval of incurred charges is required to ensure that transactions are reflected in a school or department's budget as soon as possible. SAIT schools and departments are ultimately responsible for ensuring that all submissions are allocated correctly.

SAIT CREDIT CARD OPERATING MANUAL

Each monthly billing cycle takes place from the 21st of the month to the 20th of the following month (unless the billing cycle close falls on a weekend or holiday, in which case the cycle will close on the preceding business day) and is listed on the eStatement provided by BMO. All approved card transactions are automatically uploaded into Banner the following business day.

Credit Card transactions should be reconciled and submitted in Spend Dynamics as the charges post throughout the monthly billing cycle. To allow time for review and approval, all submissions should be complete within one business day after billing cycle close on the 20th. Transactions not approved by the 27th of the billing cycle month are overdue.

Reconciliation of all charges is completed and submitted electronically; no hard copies are required. It is recommended that cardholders retain their receipt records at a minimum until their transactions have been approved.

Detailed quick reference guides are available on PeopleNOW and on the SaitNOW Credit Card training page for both cardholders/delegates and Statement Administrators. The basic steps for reconciling transactions for each card are as follows:

- a) Reconcile all credit card transactions/statement in BMO Spend Dynamics;
- b) Identify and resolve any discrepancies; contact the supplier to rectify the billing problem; Notify the Program Administrator if assistance required;
- c) Update/verify the default FOAPAL assigned to each transaction;
- d) Enter supporting business reason or comments for every transaction;
- e) Document names of all prize/gift recipients and/or attendees at any internal or external hosting events;
- f) Identify and attach evidence of reimbursement to Sait for any ineligible, unauthorized, or personal purchases;
- g) Submit all transactions for review and approval by the cardholder's designated approver in Spend Dynamics;
- h) Cardholder will be automatically notified of outstanding transactions via BMO Spend Dynamics, and subsequently contacted by the Program Administrator if transactions continue to be outstanding or overdue on the cardholders account after the monthly billing cycle deadlines.
- i) It is the cardholder's primary responsibility to ensure that their transactions are submitted in a timely manner and with all required documentation. If the cardholder has assigned a card delegate or Statement Administrator supporting the reconciliation process, the accountability for card expense submissions still sits with the cardholder.

Credit card payments are processed as follows:

- BMO will provide Sait one monthly master bill that Sait pays according to the payment terms;
- The billing and statement cut off cycle is the 20th of every month.
- After the billing cycle close, the cardholders available balance will reset to their monthly card limit.

9.6 Disputed Charges

In the event of a discrepancy on the statement, the cardholder shall determine whether it has been a supplier error (i.e. wrong amount posted, incorrect account number, multiple postings of the same item, etc.). The cardholder has 90 days from transaction date to dispute an item.

The cardholder's responsibilities are to:

- a) Contact the supplier immediately to rectify the billing problem;
- b) Ensure that an adjustment for the transaction appears on the next monthly spreadsheet/statement;
- c) Request that the supplier issue and send a credit card receipt/transaction slip to verify that credit was given;
- d) Notify BMO immediately about unresolved/disputed items, as well as inform the Program Administrator. Disputed items reported by cardholders will be credited on the individual statement the following month or so (provided they are legitimate). The amount indicated on the statement is the amount, which will be paid to BMO;
- e) Provide information and assistance to BMO to settle the disputed items, as required;
- f) Resolve questionable charges, such as late delivery, defective goods, wrong price, quantity difference, returned goods, etc., directly with the supplier. Such matters must be drawn to the supplier's attention immediately to minimize the delay in obtaining a credit to the credit card account.
- g) Ensure that merchandise returned or other adjustments to accounts and credit notes are issued by vendors. Such credits must be issued against the same credit card that the original transaction was charged to.

NOTE: The cardholder has 90 days from the date the transaction was processed to the credit card account to dispute an item through BMO. The cardholder must contact BMO Customer Service to initiate the dispute process at 1-800-844-6445 for BMO Corporate Client Services or with BMO Customer Service at 1-855-825-9232.
